Nursing Experience:

For each student of nursing, clinical experience is the tangible evidence of long hours of preparation. Lectures concerning nursing techniques and principles, basic physiology and chemistry, previously only a potpourri of information, now unveil the astounding metamorphosis of three years. From washing bedpans and pitchers to circulating in the operating room to acute emergency nursing, Charity has replaced the timid eagerness with responsible devotion and astute knowledge.

Social Life:

With never a dull moment to be found, students are rallying to sports events, beer and pizza parties, and as on every campus, the free flick! But "fellowship" without the fellows can only provide so much diversion. Friday night lines at the Kardex are no infrequent sight as professionalism is tucked away with the uniform and relaxation reigns in every form from fraternity parties to Mardi Gras to concerts --- and of course there's Joe's!

Spiritual Life:

Solitude and meditation have their places too. Inspiration may come to many while in the chapel or in discussions with group members. Both Protestant and Catholic groups extend open invitations to activities ranging from song fests to guitar masses. Then too, chaplains maintain close contact with students, extending an ever-helping hand.

Molding the Future:

Devotion to mankind through service is more than a phrase among the Charity students. Active participation to alleviate community problems is the responsibility of each student. Within the school, public health nursing stresses the prophylaxis of health teaching as a means of community betterment. Outside, involvement is immeasurable in city politics, as well as attempts at peace by the Viet Nam Moratorium.

Capping and Black Banding a Mark of Accomplishment and Progression

The 1969-70 school year began with the Capping and Black Band ceremony. To the freshman, the ceremony represented something to work toward - receiving the Charity cap.

To the junior, the capping meant receiving the Charity cap which she would wear with pride; for the cap symbolizes that she has learned the basic skills on which she will build in her junior and senior years. To the senior, black banding meant the beginning of the final step toward becoming a graduate nurse. In this year, she would be polishing skills and solidifying ideals. This is the day each student comes to the realization of what he or she will become - a registered nurse.

LOWER LEFT: "Oh Priscilla, you haven't changed since the first dance we attended."

LOWER RIGHT: Noah's Wax Battleship proved to be a great rock band.

TOP: "How can I tell him this is the tenth time he's stepped on my toes?"

BOTTOM: Dr. Mary crowns Miss Faye Leathern as Beauty Queen of 1970.

Stunt Night: Unveiling of Talents

One of the highlights each year centers around the many hours the students, and faculty devote to the production of their original skits. What better name could be delegated to this "variety show" but-Stunt Night!

The class of '70 captured their second consecutive victory with their production of "Goodbye to the Sixties." From the international, national, and local scenes, were many hilarious and satirical highlights of the decade.

UPPER RIGHT: "Jimmy Boy, we can't go on meeting this way."

LOWER LEFT: "Pam, how can you get such a perfect expression when I haven't given you the dope yet?"

RIGHT: "As your mayor, I've got everything under control."

To capture second place in their first attempt in Stunt Night competition, the class of '72 vividly portrayed their version of "Mardi Gras." From the New Orleans' sidewalks filled with the maddening crowds to the popular music of their very own jazz band, the freshmen relived their 1st Mardi Gras.

TOP: "I sure hope that parade will be here soon, I'm so tired of smiling." LEFT: And here comes the Kidney Basins and the Sputum cups.

The Class of '71 presented a skit entitled "The Joanie Carson Show." The highlights of their presentation centered around the far-out fashions of the future and many commercials.

RIGHT: "Ladies and Gentlemen, I'd like to welcome you to my show."

BELOW: "What does he think I am, a dog?", asks the faculty's own Snoopy.

"The Mrs. Eddie Sullivan Show" was the closing performance of the night presented by our own faculty members.
"Mrs. Eddie" portrayed by Mrs. Phillips introduced to the audience such acts as graceful ballerinas, go-go dancers, Snoopy and the Red
Baron, and of course the Student Nurse of the U.S.

ABOVE: "If this song doesn't end soon, I'll have to hyperventilate."

Students Are Recognized

Students who were recognized for excellence in an area of nursing experience are Trenny Trenticosta, Debbie Pawloski, May Pate and Diane Leger. Not pictured: Faye Leathem. BELOW: Mrs. Bettye Griffin was awarded the Lee Phillips Shlenker scholarship for having the highest cumulative average in the class of 1971.

Charity Hospital Has New Director

Dr. Charles Mary assumed the position of Director of Charity Hospital, effective January 1970. Before this appointment, Dr. Mary was associate director of Charity Hospital, a clinical assistant professor of Medicine at L.S. U. School of Medicine, and director of the Intensive Care Unit at Charity Hospital.

Dr. Mary also has past association with Charity Hospital School Of Nursing, having served as school physician in 1965-66. He is married to a School of Nursing graduate, the former Lynn Boesiger.

SISTER BLANCHE, Director

With the construction of the new educational building well underway, Sister Blanche was able to devote much of her time to matters of particular importance to students.

Sister Blanche supported the formation of the Black and White Student Organization, which serves as a forum to discuss and improve human relations and understanding within the school. She met with student leaders and approved their plans for restructuring the Student Body Association in an attempt to strengthen student government and place responsibilities with student representatives. Both of these activities were in addition to her continued guidance and support of the students, her consideration of each student for promotion and her recognition of those students named for outstanding achievement in an area of nursing experience.

During the past year, she was elected to the following offices: President Elect, South Louisiana League for Nursing; First Vice-President, Louisiana State Nurses Association,

MRS. MARIE MANICH Assistant Director

MISS SALLY COOPER Educational Director

MRS. SAIDE NASH Registrar

MRS. CONSTANCE ROSABAL

Each Basic Science Now a Separate Course

This year's freshman class experienced several changes in the Basic Sciences department. Anatomy and Physiology, Microbiology, Chemistry, and Nutrition are all separate courses and were taught on a semester basis. Previously, the Basic Sciences were taught as one course with the various areas being taught in 10 week courses.

Anatomy and Physiology lab periods were increased from 50 minutes to two hours in length. Because of this change, for the first time students were able to discuss in groups their assigned work.

Microbiology students were the first beneficiaries of eight new microscopes.

Fundamentals of Nursing Stresses Basic Needs of the Patient

This eourse served as a foundation for subsequent nursing eourses. It assisted the beginning student to learn basic knowledge and skills fundamental to the eare of most patients. Individual eonferences provided the student an opportunity to discuss various matters with the instructor.

Maternity and Newborn Nursing: a New Life Becomes a Part of the World

Students in Maternity and Newborn Nursing gained experience in working with mothers before, during and after the birth of their babies. The students also got a chance to care for the babies of these mothers during their nursing experience in the newborn nursery and in the newborn intensive care nursery.

This year students extended their working practice in the offices of various obstetricians and gynecologists from one day to one week.

Nursing of Children: the Scope of Child Development

Nursing of Children offered concurrent theory and nursing experience in the care of children from birth to twelve years of age. It provided the student with a comprehensive picture of the child - his growth and development, his care, and health problems - at each of the developmental periods.

It provided the student with an opportunity to meet the needs of the child. Meeting the needs is the goal of Nursing of Children.

Medical Surgical Nursing: a Composite of Principles and Practices

Utilization of basic nursing principles applied to complex nursing situations was the framework for the medical surgical courses.

Students progressed through medicine, pre-operative, operative, and post-operative care and through selected general surgical experiences to specialty areas.

Innovations during the year included student representation of the Medical-Surgical subcommittee of the curriculum and other endeavors to promote closer student involvement in course activities.

In Emergency and Disaster Nursing, the instructor sought to prepare the student to handle everyday emergencies, and to assume leadership in planning, organizing, and directing nursing care in time of disaster.

Emphasis was placed on sight and hearing conservation in Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Nursing. Prevention of visual and hearing handicaps through early detection in community screening programs was accentuated.

In the area of Clinic and Community
Nursing, the students were given an opportunity to observe patients in the loome environment and to relate physical and emotional surroundings to health. The students also visited local community agencies.

During clinic experience, students taught nutrition to patients on special diets, showed films to patients in the clinic and participated in classes for prenatal mothers.

Psychiatric Nursing: a Personalizing Process

In this age of man's search for meaning and relevance, second-year students in psychiatric nursing worked hard in the 1969-70 school year to help psychiatric patients establish meaning-ful relationships. The course emphasized purposeful use of self and the use of scientific knowledge in understanding behavior and planning nursing care. Learning to recognize and help to meet the needs of the individual, on a one-to-one basis and in small groups, was the aim of the experience planned for the student.

A major goal was that students have a better understanding of all persons, including themselves, and the ability to use their skills and knowledge gained in this course to improve all of their future nursing practice.

Enrichment Courses: Produce Well-Rounded Students

UPPER: Seniors make an effort to become well-informed future nurses in "Roles in Professional Relation-ships".

LOWER: Miss Spratt teaches freshman students Sociology, a necessary part of the nursing curriculum.

Various courses in the curriculum serve as a program of enrichment for nursing students throughout their years at Charity.

In the freshman year sociology is taught in an effort to acquaint the student with the patient, not as a "case study" but as an individual in society whose behavior is influenced by certain factors.

Growth and Development is concerned with man's progression from conception to senescence and his outlook on the ever changing world.

The junior student is exposed to Marriage and the Family and Ethics as preparation for roles he will enter. For a needed change of scenery, these courses are taught by male teachers.

As the senior prepares to leave the school as a graduate nurse, it is hoped that these courses have served to prepare him for a well rounded-life.

Madeline Ledet and Leona Richard speak to the State Convention at the Jung Hotel.

Charity Hospital Association of Student Nurses included in this year's activities participation in the State Convention in which CHASN placed second in the talent show. Also at the State Convention, Madeline Ledet won honorable mention in the Student Nurse of the State contest. Funds to finance delegates to National Convention in Miami, Florida were raised through bake sales and the popcorn sales at the movies. The club sponsors are Miss Cooper and newly elected Miss Causey.

Student Body Officers Represent Student Body

Members of the student body are represented by the student body officers. The President and Vice President are elected from the senior class and the Secretary and Treasurer are members of the junior class. The officers are also members of Student Council.

RIGHT: Let's have some discussion.

Student Council Reviews and Recommends Rules

The membership and duties of Student Council were changed this year. Duties of the past Student Council were divided and enforcement of regulations and imposition of sanctions became the responsibility of the judiciary board. Functions of student council now include serving as the official administrative body of the student body association, reviewing and recommending rules and regulations. Several important rule changes recommended by student council were: changes in dress and behavior regulations, and overnight regulations for students who have maintained their majority.

Social Activities Committee Now Part of S.B.A.

The Social Activities Committee this year became one of the three integral bodies comprising the newly organized Student Body Association. The membership consists of the Presidents and sponsors of all classes and student organizations, with the Social Activities Director serving as sponsor to the group. The committee prepared the annual social activities budget, planned Christmas parties, Stunt Night, Awards Night, a school picnic, and a spring dance.

The committee also worked toward having an increased number of off-campus student body parties in order to widen the social spectrum of the Charity students.

Enforcement of Rules Delegated to Judiciary Board

A newly formed body of the Student Body association is the judiciary board. Duties of this body include, enforcement of regulations, consideration and judgement of individual infractions and imposition of sanctions. Three representatives from each class are elected at the beginning of each term with at least one of the representatives from each class being reelected from the previous term.

S.A.C. Changes Membership Requirements

Sigma Alpha Chi, the honorary scholastic sorority, participated in the recruitment of high school students to C. H. S. N. as one of this year's activities. Members also served as student representatives on faculty committees, conducted tours of the hospital for testing students, helped faculty members grade papers and sponsored a party for honor roll students.

To be eligible for S. A. C. students must have a cumulative average of 2.2 or above. This year members changed the requirements for staying in the organization from 2.2 to 2.1.

Library Club Visits Local Attractions

Activites of the small but active Library Club included touring the French Quarter, decorating the residence lobby with a fireplace for Christmas, sending invitations to the faculty for the Christmas party, and dining in Vieux Carre restaurants. Through the club's functions, each member was offered something in the way of service and fun.

Growth, both emotional and spiritual was the main objective of the Baptist Student Union. A wide variety of methods and media were utilized to help each individual develop into a mature person.

B. S. U. had two main meetings each week. "Encounter" was a potpourri of prevocative films, dialogue, and guest speakers. Students were afforded an opportunity to encounter varied ideas and opinions.

"Encore" was an experiment in group dynamics and interpersonal relationships.

Opportunities to meet other students from the city, other universities, and other states were provided.

Self Studies Conducted By NCF Members

Nurses Christian Fellowship, a sub-division of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, is an organization of students formed for Bible study and small group discussion sessions.

This year's activities have included a series of studies of self and interpersonal relationship, guest speakers, dessert parties, and snack-outs.

"C" Club Sponsors Seasonal Parties

Festive costumes and competitive games high-lighted the Halloween party sponsored by C Club. Other activities were the Christmas party for underprivileged children and the Thanksgiving wiener roast. C Club provided a student telephone directory and helped to serve refreshments at school functions.

Through these activites, C Club hoped to fulfill its goal of promoting school spirit.

Choral Club Is Reorganized

For the first time, this year's Choral Club was solely under student leadership and did not have a faculty sponsor.

The group sang a medley of Christmas carols when they paid their annual visit to the student body Christmas party. The Choral Club also featured a folk singing group which sang at the Thanksgiving party and other school activites.

Black Students Form Organization

The Black Student Organization is a new group at Charity Hospital School of Nursing.

Black students decided to form an organization to increase their recognition and participation in school affairs.

B. S. O. endeavors to broaden the scope of black students' existence in the school, emphasizing individuality of its members

Activities included organizing black and white student meetings, faculty and student discussions and any other such related activities in which a black and white student voice was needed.
